FAQs

Like the rest of the world, Reno Ballers looks forward to life returning to normal next season. Barring any unforeseen circumstances or changes in the current health direction of the nation, we should be back in business by our scheduled start date of September 24, 2022.

Start of Season

Players should come prepared to exhibit their skills and abilities. Reno Ballers staff will also be available to answer parent questions, etc. All those attending Team Formation Day must enter through the westside parking lot entrance. #### 2022-23 Teams

Reno Ballers offers multiple age-level teams, all of which have the opportunity to compete in local and/or travel tournaments. The number of players per age group depends on the number of players who met the coach's qualifications. Teams members are selected by the age group coaching staff based on ability, skill level, athleticism, work ethic, and attitude. Players are expected to participate in team practices held in the evening twice a week at our E. Ninth Street facility, and Saturday morning ball-handling training (when available).

Commitment to Reno Ballers

Athletes who wish to be part of Reno Ballers must agree to make a strong commit in terms of participation, including attending scheduled practices and Saturday morning ball-handling sessions when their team is not playing in a tournament, and working at a level to develop the skills necessary to compete at a high level of competition.

Baller players must be committed to play ONLY with the Reno Ballers, and not for any other club basketball team during their time as a member of the Reno Ballers.

Players are not precluded from participation in other sport programs. Reno Ballers staff is happy to work with multi-sport athletes to develop a schedule that will allow the athlete to participate in Reno Ballers and other sports.

Tournaments

Reno Ballers teams travel to the Sacramento area to play in one-day tournaments at the Hardwood Palace (1091 Tinker Road, Rocklin), participate in several large tournaments hosted in the Reno area, and play in local Reno/Sparks area tournaments.

Players are invited to play on Travel Teams; meaning not all players are guaranteed to travel to all tournaments. Players are invited to travel to tournaments based on their practice commitment and demonstrated hard work.

Playing time while at tournaments is at the discretion of the coach. Reno Ballers believes all players should have the opportunity to exhibit their skills and gain from the valuable experience of playing in such tournaments if they have earned that time through their practice commitment and demonstrated hard work.

Tournament schedule is established by the coaches.

Reno Ballers Extravaganza

Our major fundraiser of the year is the annual Reno Ballers Extravaganza, a much-anticipated event that highlights the successes of the program and recognizes players, parents, coaches, and community leaders who have played an exceptional role in making Reno Ballers all it can be for all members. The event is entirely volunteer-driven, thus necessitating parent participation. The revenue from the Reno Ballers Extravaganza covers all of the program expenses not met through the $300 annual registration fee. The traditional date of this event is the first Saturday in June.
